THE TRUTH ABOUT THE BOY.

The boy stood on the burning deck—
He felt he ought to stay—
Because if he should skip the ditch
His dad to him would say:

"Now Johnny, wherefore didn't thou flee
The coop, when I had said
That you should tend the flick'ring fire
Before you went to bed?"

So boy kept standing on the deck,
His feet were getting hot,
And there was nowhere else to stand
But on his feet, he thought.

His dad cried loud from off the beach,
"Johnny, man the windlass!"
"I can't," said boy, "But save my life!
Send me out a Douglas!"

Bath has a picture of the boy going ashore on a Douglas crate.

DECISION PENDING.

Judge Gear this morning continued the cases of the Territory against Wah Sin, Nakamura, M. G. Simoes and John Baker until tomorrow morning.

In Wah Sin and Nakamura, Attorneys Breckons and Brooks, respectively, raised the question of the constitutionality of prosecution without indictment where the offense was punishable as an infamous crime. Judge Gear, not being prepared to decide this point at present, continued these and similar cases. Wah Sin's is an opium-selling matter. The cases of Nakamura and Simoes are liquor affairs. Baker is alleged to have attempted to bribe an executive officer.

IN POLICE COURT.

In the Police Court this morning the cases of Andy Wilson, charged with vagrancy; Chun Chin charged with larceny in the second degree, and of Willie Aman charged with disobedience to parents, were all nolle prosequi. Arthur Taylor and Wm. Hoekman were fined $3 and $2, respectively, on the charge of profanity. The cases of Len Tao, charged with arson, Ah Chau, charged with soliciting; Wm. Kawai, charged with vagrancy; and of Olatia, charged with assault and battery, were all continued. Ah Choy was fined $2 and costs for common nuisance.
